SHOPS AND MARKETS

Read the sheets on “Shops and Markets”, then fill in the blanks in the summary below.

When you have done that, put your answers in their correct place on the crossword.
Summary

If you go to a boulangerie in France, you will be able to buy a breadstick called a ______ 1d ______, or maybe a ______ 5d ______ for breakfast. If you prefer something sweet, you can buy a coffee or chocolate ______ 2a ______, a delicious fruit-filled ______ 8a ______, a ______ 4d ______ au chocolat, or even a sweet bun or ______ 7d ______, as they are known in French.

Like in Australia, you can buy meat in a ______ 10a ______ (butcher shop), but France also has the boucherie - ______ 5a ______ where you can buy ______ 11d ______ meat!

You can also buy ______ 3a ______ at the markets, which are held ______ 9d ______ in most towns. There are ______ 6a ______ set up everywhere, which sell all kinds of ______ 3a ______ including cheese, onions, fruit – even ______ 12a ______ rabbits!

Whatever you want to buy – just don’t forget to bring your ______ 3d ______!
FOOD AND DRINK: CLOZE ACTIVITY

Instructions
1. Give students this cloze, relating to food and drink.
2. Have students filling as much as they can work out on their own, or by discussing it in pairs.
3. When enough time has been given for that, put the page entitled Food and Drink (as an Overhead) on the projector so that students can check their answers.

CLOZE

France is famous for its delicious _______________________ and the French spend much time ________________ it. Both boys and girls learn to ________________ when they’re young.
* ______________________ are cooked with garlic ______________________
* One famous wine-growing region is _______________________
* In the Alps, they eat _______________________ sa voyarde, which is hot melted ________________ and white ________________ . You ________________ cubes of ________________ into it.
* Roquefort is one of the _______________________ kinds of cheese made in France.
* A special fizzy white wine is _______________________
* Olive ________________ is made from crushed olives.
* The bottom of the _______________________ of a boiled artichoke can be ________________ in oil or ________________ butter, and eaten.

food
champagne melted fondue
dip snails bread leaves preparing butter
cook
wine
Bordeaux